

ASCI Advertising Standards (1)

ASCI Code Non-Offensive to Public

Title: Non-Offensive Advertising

Jurisdiction: India

Category: Advertising

Source Citation: ASCI Code for Self-Regulation in Advertising, Chapter II, Clauses 2.1–2.2

Plain English Summary:

Advertisements should not contain material that is likely to cause serious or widespread offence or harm public decency. Advertising for an Ayurvedic brand should therefore avoid offensive, indecent, or socially inappropriate representations, including those that may seriously offend prevailing standards of public decency.

The Exact Legal Text:

ASCI Code, Chapter II — Non-Offensive to Public:

2.1. Advertisements should contain nothing indecent, vulgar or repulsive, which is likely, in the light of generally prevailing standards of decency and propriety, to cause grave or widespread offence.

2.2. Advertisements should not incite people to crime or to promote disorder and violence, nor shall it exploit fear or superstition.

Keywords/Triggers:

offensive advertising, indecent advertisement, vulgar advertising, public decency, ASCI Chapter II, fear in advertising, superstition claims, violent advertising

ASCI Code Advertising of Harmful Products and Services

Title: Prohibition of Advertising Harmful or Illegal Products

Jurisdiction: India

Category: Advertising

Source Citation: ASCI Code for Self-Regulation in Advertising, Chapter III, Clauses 3.1–3.3

Plain English Summary:

Advertisements must not promote products, services, or activities that are prohibited by law or are considered harmful in the circumstances specified by the Code. An Ayurvedic business should therefore check whether the product or activity being advertised is legally permitted before creating promotional material.

The Exact Legal Text:ASCI Code, Chapter III Against Harmful Products/Services/Situations:

3.1. Advertisements should not promote products or services which are banned or prohibited by law or by any statutory authority.

3.2. Advertisements should not promote products or services which are hazardous or harmful to health or safety, unless the advertisement clearly states the nature of the hazard or risk involved.

3.3. Advertisements should not encourage or condone violence or behaviour that is harmful to health or safety.

Keywords/Triggers:

banned product advertising, prohibited advertising, harmful product, health risk advertising, safety risk, illegal product promotion, ASCI Chapter III, Ayurvedic product advertising

ASCI Code Advertising and Children

Title: Protection of Children in Advertising

Jurisdiction: India

Category: Advertising

Source Citation: ASCI Code for Self-Regulation in Advertising, Chapter III, Clause 3.4

Plain English Summary:

Advertising must take particular care where children are involved and must not encourage unsafe behaviour or exploit their vulnerability. This matters for Ayurvedic products marketed to children or advertisements in which children are shown using or consuming a product.

The Exact Legal Text:

ASCI Code, Chapter III, Clause 3.4:

Advertisements addressed to children should not contain anything, whether in illustration or otherwise, which might result in their physical, mental or moral harm, or which exploits their vulnerability.

Keywords/Triggers:

children advertising, Ayurvedic products for children, child safety, vulnerable children, child-targeted advertising, ASCI child advertising, child health claims, advertising safety

ASCI Code Unsafe Practices and Situations

Title: Advertising Must Not Encourage Unsafe Practices

Jurisdiction: India

Category: Advertising

Source Citation: ASCI Code for Self-Regulation in Advertising, Chapter III, Clauses 3.5–3.6

Plain English Summary:

Advertisements should not encourage consumers to engage in dangerous or unsafe practices, particularly where this could cause injury or harm. Product demonstrations and advertising visuals for Ayurvedic products must therefore avoid portraying unsafe use as normal, desirable, or harmless.

The Exact Legal Text:

ASCI Code, Chapter III, Clauses 3.5–3.6:

3.5. Advertisements should not show or refer to dangerous practices or manifestations of them which are likely to encourage a disregard for safety or health.

3.6. Advertisements should not show or encourage the use of products in ways that could cause injury or harm to the consumer.

Keywords/Triggers:

unsafe product use, dangerous practices, consumer safety, Ayurvedic product demonstration, health and safety advertising, harmful use, ASCI safety rules, unsafe advertising