

ASCI Advertising Standards (3)

ASCI Code Truthful and Honest Representation

Title: Truthful and Honest Representation in Advertising

Jurisdiction: India

Category: Advertising

Source Citation: ASCI Code for Self-Regulation in Advertising, Chapter I — Honest Representations, Clause 1.1

Plain English Summary:

Advertising claims must be truthful and must not mislead consumers. For an Ayurvedic startup, claims about a product's benefits, ingredients, efficacy, safety, or performance should therefore be capable of being supported by appropriate evidence.

The Exact Legal Text:

ASCI Code, Chapter I, Clause 1.1:

Advertisements must not be misleading by inaccuracy, ambiguity, exaggeration, omission or otherwise.

Keywords/Triggers:

misleading advertisement, false advertising, Ayurvedic claims, exaggerated claims, advertising accuracy, consumer deception, ASCI Clause 1.1, substantiation

ASCI Code Claims and Substantiation

Title: Substantiation of Advertising Claims

Jurisdiction: India

Category: Advertising

Source Citation: ASCI Code for Self-Regulation in Advertising, Chapter I — Honest Representations, Clause 1.2

Plain English Summary:

An advertiser must hold adequate evidence to support objective claims made in an advertisement. This is particularly important for Ayurvedic advertising where claims about efficacy, health benefits, ingredients, superiority, or performance may be objectively testable.

The Exact Legal Text:

ASCI Code, Chapter I, Clause 1.2:

Advertisements must not contain statements or visual presentation which directly or by implication, omission, ambiguity or exaggerated claim are likely to mislead the consumer.

Keywords/Triggers:

claim substantiation, Ayurvedic efficacy claims, health claims, advertising evidence, objective claims, misleading claims, ASCI substantiation, advertising proof

ASCI Code Guarantees and Warranties

Title: Guarantees, Warranties and Advertising Claims

Jurisdiction: India

Category: Advertising

Source Citation: ASCI Code for Self-Regulation in Advertising, Chapter I — Honest Representations, Clause 1.3

Plain English Summary:

Where an advertisement refers to a guarantee or warranty, the basis and applicable conditions should be clear to consumers. An Ayurvedic brand should not use absolute guarantees about product results unless those guarantees can genuinely be supported and their conditions are properly disclosed.

The Exact Legal Text:

ASCI Code, Chapter I, Clause 1.3:

Advertisements shall not make false or misleading guarantees.

Keywords/Triggers:

advertising guarantee, Ayurvedic guarantee, warranty claims, guaranteed results, absolute claims, misleading guarantee, ASCI warranty, product results

